WORK PROSPECTS AND MEANINGFUL CONTACTS

What is the Natural Science-Day about?

The Natural Science-Day is an opportunity for students and PhD-students from the fields of biology, bio-chemistry, chemistry and pharmacy to establish contacts with leading pharmaceutical and life science companies. Entry possibilities into those branches are presented in-depth through workshops, company presentations and information booths.

On the Natural Science-Day we offer company-oriented practical workshops based on various themes. Through collaborative activity in workshops you will get a deep insight into how people work within these companies and at the same time establish meaningful contacts with key personnel.

Further information and registration by Sunday, October 9th, 2011:
